Re: Supplier Shortages

Dear Brad:

As the Archdiocese of Chicago, (the "District") implements emergency measures to preserve the health and safety of its students, staff, and faculty, Aramark understands that many students rely on their school's food service for daily nourishment. That's why Aramark is fully committed to continuing to serve those students during this challenging period.

Due to the global pandemic, our suppliers have experienced widespread shortages and significant disruptions in service for certain high-demand products. As a result, some products we typically utilize in the food service operation are unavailable for distribution in the quantities needed to serve all District students within the parameters of service and standards we look to satisfy. Rest assured that Aramark, together with the District, is committed to ensuring that sufficient alternative products, based on recommendations made to us by our suppliers as well as our own procurement and standards teams, are available to meet the food service needs of the District's student population.

We look forward to continuing our partnership to provide service to the students and families of the Archdiocese of Chicago and community.

Sincerely,

Mary Jo McLoughlin, RD, LD
District Manager, Aramark
